Stom Ushidate Profile

Interior designer. After taking advanced study program at California Institute of the Arts in his teens, he received substantial attention across the United States for his design work of a large shopping center. In 1988, he moved his base to Japan and worked for multiple commercial building projects from restaurant and bar units, such as Suntory THE-EARTH, Velfarre Roppongi (discotheque), Chinese restaurant Heichinrou, to large scale commercial facilities, Kintetsu Department Store in Nara and Fukuoka Marina Shopping Mall.

From 2006, he has gotten more international clients and worked for several shopping centers in China; Tianyuangang Center in Beijing, Dreams-on in Shenzhen, Joy City in Shanghai and Tianjin. Since DDA Outstanding Award for his work, Suntory THE-EARTH Shiodome in 1999, excellent awards including American Institute of Architects (AIA) Award have been granted for his excellent works almost every year. He also won GOOD DESIGN Award for Uguisudani Medical Center in 2005.
